THE 1952
Cauldron

FRANKFORT HIGH SCHOOL
FRANKFORT + INDIANA

.... THIS IS WHAT

With a glimpse of "Ye Olde Highe Schoole Building" we open the 1952 Cauldron. We have tried to give an overall picture of Frankfort High School . . . to look at things from a different angle . . . and to go behind the scenes. By the various persons and things listed, named, and pictured we have tried to show you just "What Makes Frankfort Tick."

MAKES FRANKFORT TICK

Many of the important things are seldom seen, rarely heard of, and very often neglected in due credit.

Some things taken for granted

Frankfort High School's drivers of the future!

The carpenters and builders of tomorrow!

are essential in the coordination of school life

It isn't very often the average fan gets a chance to see the stadium at Stott Field looking like this. To the athletes it is a common sight, but they don't like to have it this way at games, etc. This is a good example of the facilities offered to the Frankfort High students.

Instruments alone produce no music; the ability of a director combined with the talent of a group of musicians make the harmony we hear from the Frankfort High School band.

Just some more of the people, things and events that made our wonderful school really tick . . . the crowning of Donna Barnett as '51 Football Homecoming Queen . . . the ever-friendly smile of those efficient office secretaries, Suzanne Gillespie and Joan Locke . . . "Mac," the "Old Faithful" of the athletic equipment room . . . the friendly "yeaaaal" heard every hour on the hour in the crowded halls . . . and that delicious food served in the cafeteria.

Everyday happenings as well as main events make

"Now write the numbers that you hear in the second column" . . . a familiar phrase repeatedly echoed on annual hearing tests supervised by Mrs. Smith, R.N.

up the daily schedule

It's all new for '52"—and so on went the slogan that might have influenced you greatly in the purchasing of this book you are reading—the 1952 CAULDRON. For over 40 years, senior classes have published their annual, the CAULDRON, and this year more than ever, we have strived to make our CAULDRON bubbling over with facts, figures, and generally, with what makes our school tick. Keeping up with the tradition of previous generations, we have given you these facts. It is up to you to determine whether we have topped previous years. We hope the following classes will continue this fine spirit and workmanship.

Students, teachers & activities "make

HOMECOMING QUEEN

F.H.S. was host to the football team of '31 at the second annual homecoming game this year . . . Donna Barnett was elected by the student body to reign as queen of this festive occasion . . . attended by a court of seven.

SCHOOL NURSE

Our school nurse, Mrs. Robert Smith, was always on hand to see what made the students of Frankfort High tick . . . hearing tests . . . eye examinations . . . patch tests . . . all in a day's work for this friendly lady.

CHEER LEADERS

"Oh hail to dear old Frankfort" . . . win or lose these five energetic people dressed in blue and white were always on hand to keep our school spirit alive.

Frankfort tick"

Mixer Stag Line

A familiar sight at those ever-popular Friday night dances is the "stag line" . . . drinking cokes . . . talking over the game with friends . . . this is just another group of Frankfort High School students that make the life at F.H.S. tick with excitement and friendliness.

Hi-Y Dance

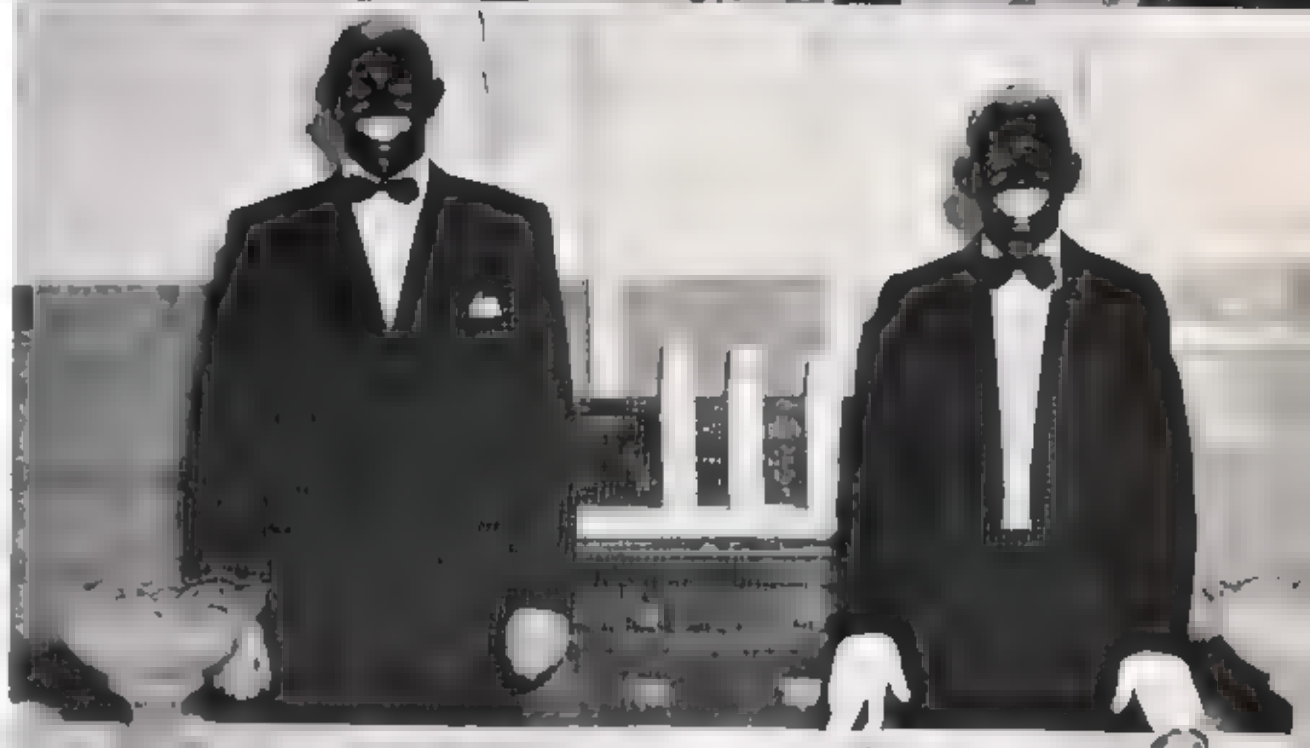

Some of the most enjoyable minutes ticked off by the clocks at old F.H.S. were the ones at the formal dances . . . elaborate decorations . . . clever ideas . . . highlight of all school affairs . . . romance in bloom . . . lending a part to an atmosphere of fun, beauty, and excitement.

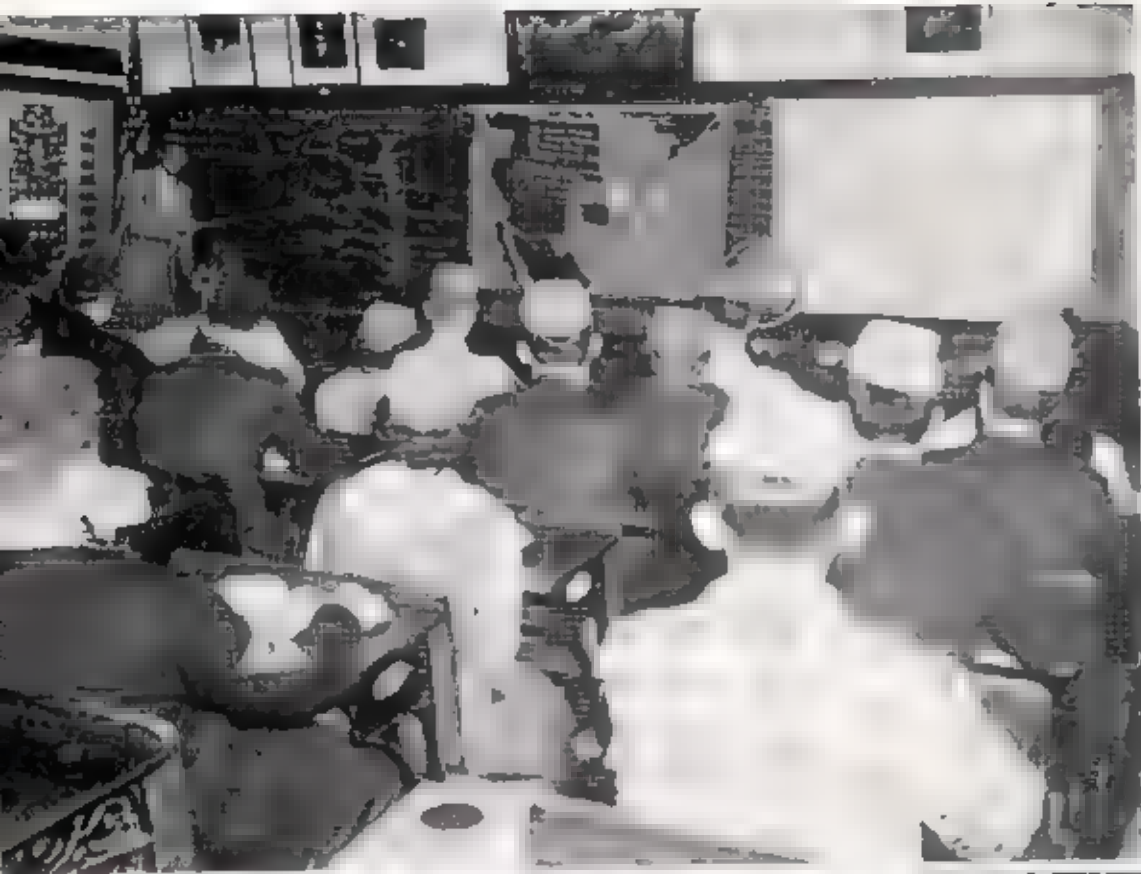

Scorers and Times Bench

These men watched the mechanical side of things as that clock ticked away the precious minutes at many a basketball game when the minutes and seconds counted the most . . . busy keeping an accurate record of the events of the game were Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Pace, official timer and scorer for Frankfort.

Sunshine Box Social

An evening to long be remembered by the students and faculty of Frankfort High School was the Box Social sponsored by the Sunshine Society . . . gaily decorated boxes . . . auctioned off by Mr. Robert Bahney . . . sold to the higher bidder . . . introduced a new type of entertainment to F.H.S.

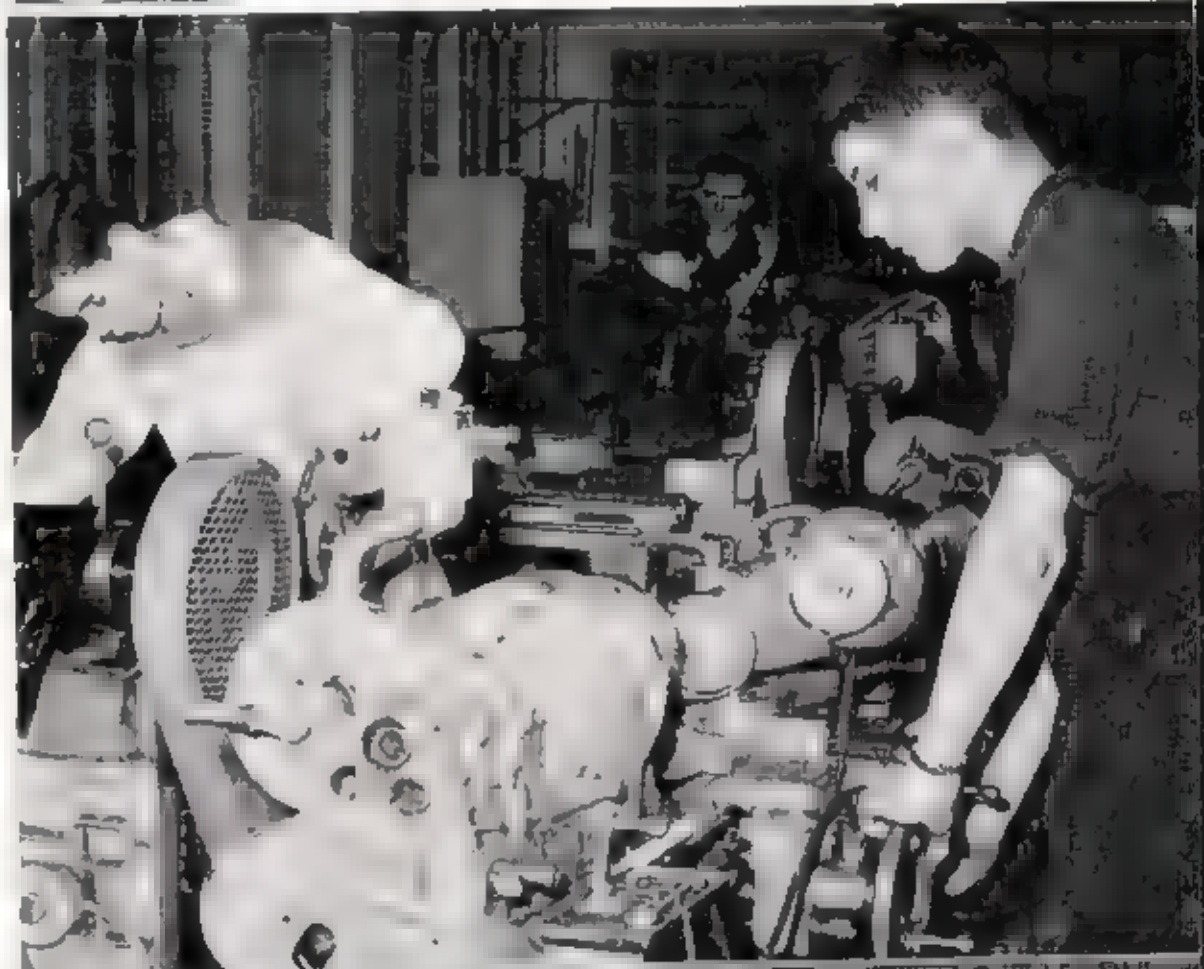

The main purpose

The historic landmark on your left is room C232, where each year the great battles of United States History are fought. The casualties are not so great as in the original battles, but the six weeks' test causes serious injuries to those who left the battlefield in haste the night before.

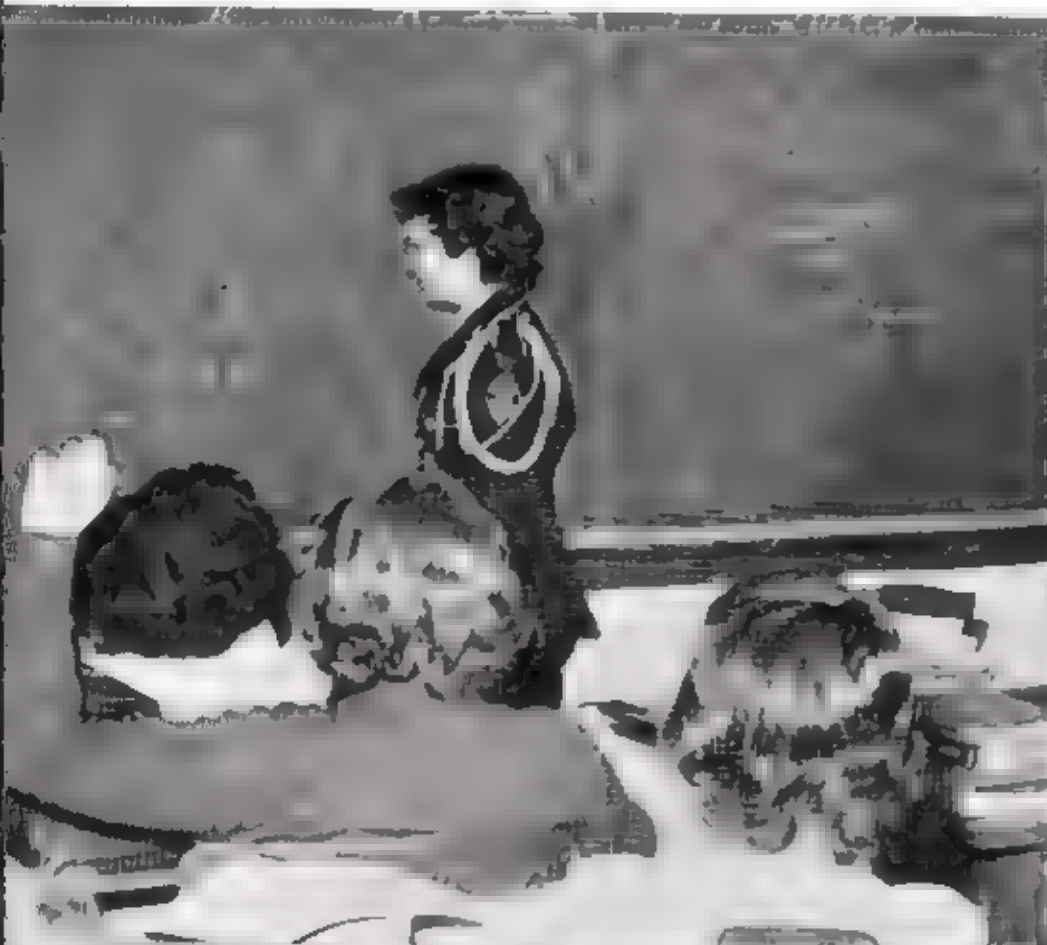

A machine shop on a small scale right here in our own school! The boys who accept the opportunity of our vocational education department will have many more opportunities upon graduation. Our vocational training courses are rated among the best of the state.

Station F.H.S. can be tuned in each year in room C 134. The tick of the all-important time clock is the prime factor here. How to develop poise and calmness before an audience is another stressed topic.

of Frankfort High? A varied education

The four divisions below represent as many departments in the school. The math brains, studious chemists, typing speed demons, and English whizzes all have the best of facilities in Frankfort to further study in their favorite fields. There is a more than ample chance for a well-rounded education in Frankfort High School.

Do you remember . . . looking forward to Friday nights when the Hot Dogs played a tough foe . . . the band playing as the team came on the floor . . . the excitement that sweeps through the crowd as the score remains close . . . the wonderful feeling as the Hot Dogs chalk up another victory . . . well, another hard game next week.

Sports crowds and events help keep Frankfort ticking

Of the many memories which will remain with us after graduation, the Friday night dances occupy a large part. After the home ball games everyone eventually drifts into the dance. For the dancers there is plenty of good music; for the loafer there is always someone with whom to talk; and there is always someone who is ready to play a game of ping-pong or cards.

One of the most successful track meets of recent years was the North Central Conference held at Frankfort. The weather was very good and as a result several records were broken or tied. This meet was the highlight of the season.

The Frankfort

Fifty cents—55, do I hear 55—55 going once, 55 going twice, 55 going three times—SOLD! This was the familiar phrase heard at the first annual Sunshine Society Box Social. The atmosphere was perfect because it was February 14—Valentine's Day. Mr. Bahney, in straw hat, bow tie, and cane, added a realistic note as the auctioneer. The boys had to "dig deep" if they wanted to get the box and the girl of their choice. Everybody agreed, though, that the food was worth the price. After the contents of the boxes had been devoured, everybody joined in on some good, old-fashioned party games. Yes, it was a smash success, and will be looked back upon as one of the most unique and enjoyable social events of the year.

Loud juke box . . . noisy crowd . . . dancing floor alive . . . coke vendors . . . stag line . . . talk of ball game . . . ping-pong artists . . . All of these things go to make the informal Friday night mixers what they are.

Who'd never believe it was the high school teria. The surroundings have all the our of Churchill Downs. But as you closer, you see dancing couples where orses should be lining up. You guessed s the annual Hi-Y semi-formal dance.
year's theme, "The Kentucky Derby," ns the decorations. Words can never be a superior Hi-Y dance, though. One be there to really know.

Class Day at Frankfort High School . . .
These words will ring out loud and clear in our memories. For this is not an ordinary assembly, by any means. It is the culmination of a year's work, because here we receive awards and special recognition for the things we have accomplished throughout the year. The hustle and bustle of the last week of school will live long in our memories, but Class Day will live forever.

Nothing is as important as people in making Frankfort tick

What makes Frankfort High School tick? Did you ever come into the building at night, when no one else is in the building? What an unfriendly place it is. No one to talk to; no one to see; nothing to do, except look at stone walls.

But what a different place in the day, with students, faculty, custodians, and office girls all molded together in harmony to make Frankfort High School such a wonderful place to be.

Ever busy, but seldom seen, are the members of our school board . . . Robert Ryan, secretary . . . Russell Kelly, treasurer . . . Claude Maxson, president . . . Sam M. Woodruff, superintendent. These four men have done an excellent job in the manner in which they have conducted the affairs of our city schools.

One of the most important "cogs" in our clock-like system of city schools is Mr. Sam M. Woodruff, our superintendent. He does his utmost to keep this system functioning smoothly and properly. Working in connection with the school board, he realizes the needs of the student body, and is most capable of fulfilling such needs. His genuine sincerity and all-around friendliness has placed him in the esteem of the community. In the fulfillment of his extensive duties he has proven himself a qualified master of his position.

Just as the mainspring is the key mechanism in any type of watch or clock, so is our principal, Mr. Howard L. Crouse, the key mechanism in our high school system. With his pleasant ways and business-like efficiency he is equally capable of supervising a few or a large group of students. During his last three years with us he has proven a lasting friend and an able leader.

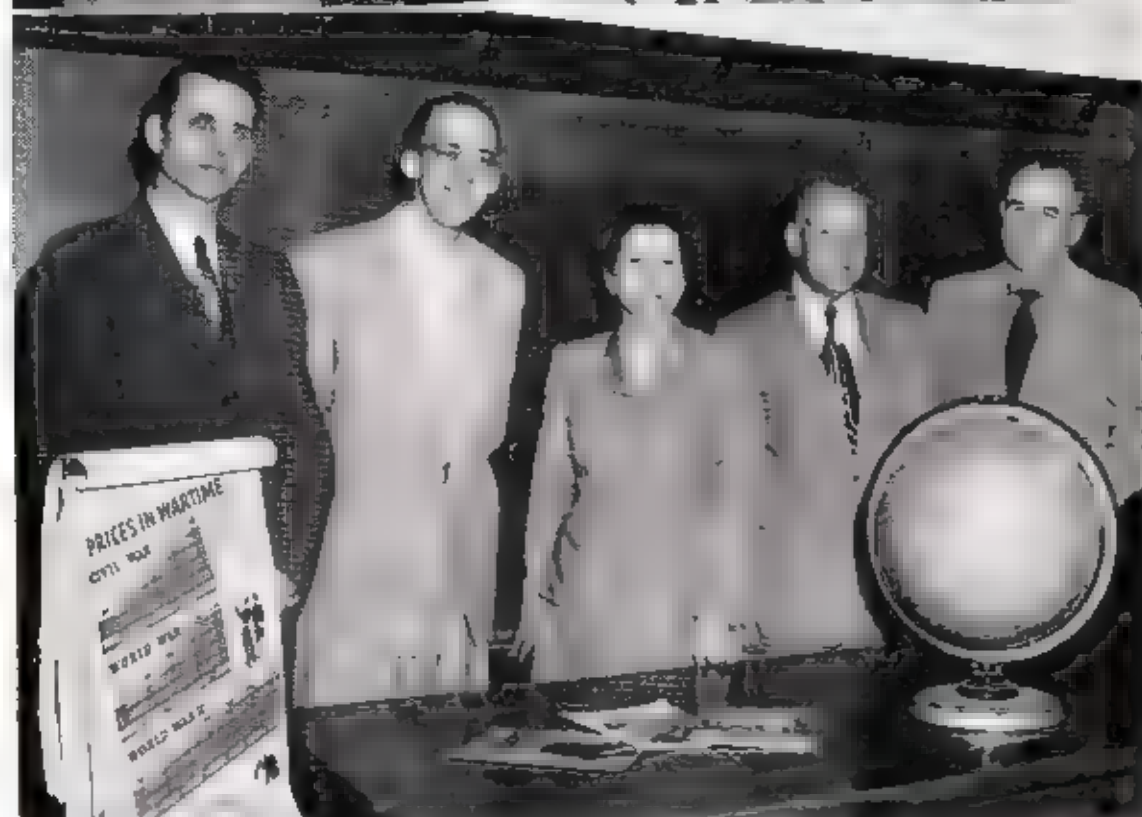

No minor duties are done by these four familiar faces around F.H.S. . . . Oma Heaton, dean of girls; Raymond Rohrabaugh, dean of boys; Wayne Gregg, assistant principal; and Dale Shanks, truant officer. A long due vote of thanks should be given these persons who so willingly assist the student body.

1. English Department: Mr. Ayers, Mr. Wood, Miss Campbell, Mr. McMurtrey.

2. English and Foreign Language: Miss Kearns, Miss Orr, Mrs. Redmon, Mr. Farrell, Mrs. Heaton.

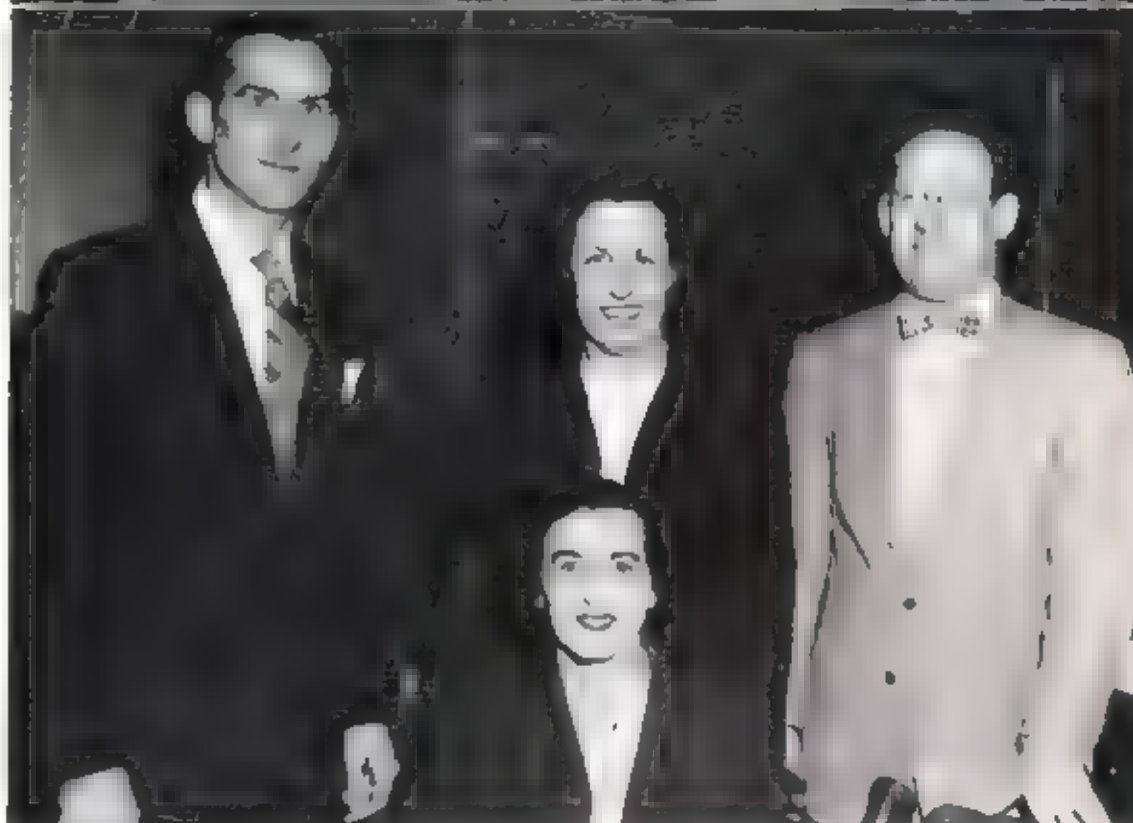

3. Social Studies Department: Mr. Gregg, Mr. Bahney, Miss Hinman, Mr. Barnett, Mr. Rohrabough.

4. Mathematics Department:
Mr. Pace, Mr. Baldwin, Miss
Sanders, Miss May, Miss Knox.

5. Business Department: Mr.
Alexander, Miss Bond, Miss
Carfield, Mr. Dean.

6. Home Economics and Industrial Arts Department: Mr.
Blunk, Mr. Winters, Mrs. Padgett,
Mr. Shockney, Mr. Welty,
Mrs. Mosier, Mr. Davis, Mrs.
Jones.

1. Music and Art Department:
Mr. Long, Miss Gallup, Mr.
Langdon, Miss Cooper.

2. Physical Education Department: Miss LeHew, Mr. Cummins, Mr. Heninger, Miss Foster.

3. Science: Mr. Lowe, Mr.
Swearingen, Miss Van Horn,
Mr. Belcher, Mr. Hanger.

Like the hands on the clock in the senior homeroom, the students on the right have led us hand-in-hand through the last year of our high school career. They are the instruments that have made us, the class of 1952, tick.

They are as follows: Treasurer, Janet Smith; Vice-President, Carolyn Briney; President, Ann Parsons; Secretary, Jean Ann Stokes.

SENIORS

With the regularity of a clock beat, the senior class of '52 did the work at hand and moved on to greater obstacles on the road to graduation.

The green eighth graders who carried all their books to all their classes, watched with awe as upper-classmen drifted nochalantly from room to room at the sound of the bell. Yes, this is the way that the seniors of '52 spent their first year at F.H.S.

As freshies, clubs and extra-curricular activities became a part of school-life. The Coffee Pot in the school paper became the official news-column for "steadies" and parties. "Aughe's" became the by-word for after-school get-togethers; this class was going somewhere—not only in education, but also in the social world.

The bug-catching biologist of '49 entered a sophomore year filled with more activity and study. Most of the class began to make plans for the day that they would don the long blue robes and bid good-bye to F.H.S. Talk of "next year" and sweater colors dominated the fast-flying days of the tenth grade.

Indiana was one hundred and fifty years old in October of 1950 and members of this class helped her to celebrate. After the birthday party, the juniors, clad in their gray and green sweaters, swarmed over the school and clear "Out of This World" at their prom. Modern rocket builders might take some lessons from the space-ship builders of F.H.S. who launched their red ship on April 27.

At last this group of young people attained one of their goals in life—they were seniors. Yes, this was the last year of high school, and there was still so much to do—the class play, "Life With Father," the banquet, and time was running out.

As seniors they had time only for a brief backward glance—the world stood waiting for them and the time was now. Today they were school children, but tomorrow they will be the leaders of the world. They lived today and planned for tomorrow—that is what makes F.H.S. tick.

The opening of school saw a deluge of maroon and white sweaters, the chosen colors of this year's junior class. The realization of a goal nearly attained was emphasized by the Class Day ceremonies. The juniors have truly earned the right to be the governing class of next year. In any project undertaken in the school members of the industrious class of '53 may always be found.

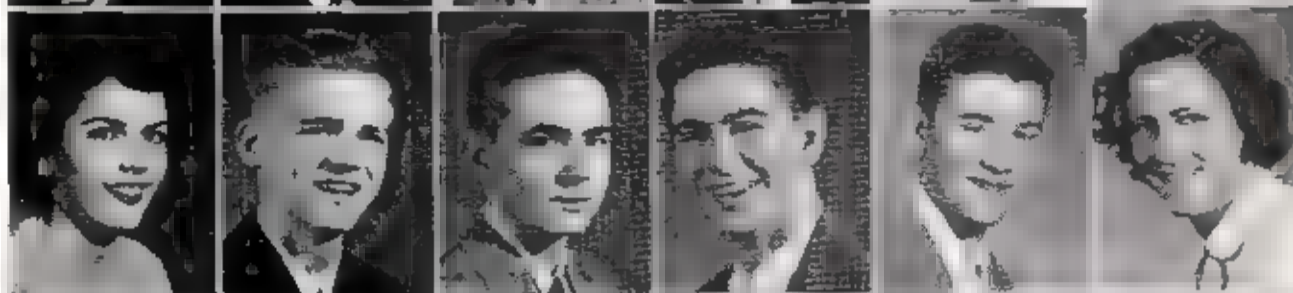

The two biggest events of the year were the picking of the class rings, and the junior prom. The theme of this year's prom was "STAIRWAY TO THE STARS." Everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves in a new and differently decorated Howard Hall.

Under the able leadership they themselves have chosen this class may well be one of the outstanding graduating classes of Frankfort High School.

Without ACTIVITIES Frankfort

wouldn't "tick" at all

What makes Frankfort High School tick? Probably one of the most important things is the activities. It has often been said that there is more to a high school education than what can be learned in books. This is very true for a student without outside activities is just a machine attending class. Add outside activities, and the student becomes a citizen.

Student Council

Besides clubs, classes, and sports, our students have a chance at the governing side of things. Home room presidents, class presidents, members of the Prefect Council, and four elected students from the senior class are members of this body, the STUDENT COUNCIL. Mr. Wayne Gregg, assistant principal, very capably served as faculty advisor to this group during a highly successful year. Various feats accomplished by the group during the 1951-1952 school term are the continuous drive against paper-cluttered halls, an open-house—at which the inauguration of the new inter-com system was held, and several Friday night dances.

Student Council members found themselves very fortunate in having a group of very outstanding officers. Mary Jane Spurgeon served throughout the year as president, James Baker, secretary - treasurer, and Joan Power, vice-president.

One of the greatest honors available in Frankfort High School is to be elected to the National Honor Society. Students are elected twice a year by a committee composed of F.H.S. teachers. To qualify for membership in the society, a student must be a junior or senior in the upper third of his class, and he must have the characteristics of leadership, fine character, and dependability as well as scholarship. The society holds a luncheon in the school cafeteria once a month, and sponsors a dance sometime during the school year. Other activities are sometimes undertaken by the society as the year progresses. Mr. Coy Wood is the sponsor of the club.

Math Club

Cherished and desired Alpha Omega of all F.H.S. math students? Why of course it's the Math Club, the merry band of paper fanciers. Through the club's continuous paper drive efforts over 30 tons of scrap paper made the long journey cross-town to Winski's. A swell means for a good purpose!

The chief aim of the club at regular meetings is to promote interest in the history of math and its use in the modern day era.

Among the club's projects was the donation of $100 on the school's new inter-com system. They sponsored the dance after the Frankfort-Crawfordsville game. Along with the Spanish Club they brought Dr. Harold Richardson, president of Franklin College, to the student body in a special convocation.

Forensic Club

"I move that the motion be laid on the table . . ." If perchance one should pass by the recreation room during the first Wednesday morning of any school month, he might readily hear this familiar phrase or any other from Robert's Rules of Order. We haven't, however, been visited by the Supreme Court, it's merely the monthly meeting of a long-standing club around F.H.S.—the Forensic Club. Under the direction of Mrs. Martha Redmon this club studies parliamentary procedure. The activities of this organization include the annual Forensic Fling, the formal initiation of new members, and the sponsorship of a speaker for a convocation.

Cauldron Staff

Early in the school year the 1952 Cauldron staff, directed by Mr. Raymond Rohrabough, faculty advisor, began to edit its book. Looking back we remember the taking of the junior and senior pictures. Then came those bothersome schedules for the various activities around the school. Then, in February, we began selling the 1952 Cauldrons. Next we had to worry about the copy and its deadline and about choosing the pictures to be used out of the many taken by our photographer, Gil Hutton. In the meantime we were trying to sell more and more Cauldrons. This was the work of the staff devoting its time, ingenuity, and patience. Here is your book. We are proud of it and we hope that you are too.

"Attention! High Life will be distributed in the home rooms tomorrow morning—with many scoops, as usual!" And so went the announcement as given by Mr. Crouse over the inter-com — for our bi-weekly publication. The staff completed the last issue of its 34th year of publication in May. Under the leadership of Miss Nancy Blystone, the paper has turned out many scoop-laden issues with fine editorials and features. A member of the Indiana High School Press Association, the staff sent five delegates to the annual IHSPA convention at Franklin College, accompanied by Miss Hilda Kearns. Dr. Jesse Stuart, noted author, was the principal speaker.

Hi-Y Club

If one were making a list of the clubs in Frankfort High School, it would certainly not be complete without the name of Hi-Y. The membership of this club is composed entirely of junior and senior boys. These fifty boys can be seen throughout the school wearing on their class sweaters or cords the familiar triangular emblem, and carrying out the club motto: "Create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community a high standard of Christian character."

The Hi-Y Club this year was an especially active one. The members started to work even before school started. For on the first day of school the Hi-Y began selling used books for the benefit of all students.

Soon afterwards came the first home football game. The Hi-Y refreshment stand was open for this, as it was throughout the season.

Next on this year's Hi-Y agenda was the initiation of new members, and the impressive rose ceremony.

Soon after the last football game came the club's annual formal dance; this year's theme was "The Kentucky Derby." Many thought this dance was the best ever held.

Again this year the club presented two religious convocations to the student body. One was held at Thanksgiving, and the other at Easter.

This year's club was extremely honored, when Frankfort was chosen as the site for the Hi-Y district conference. Late in March over one hundred boys from neighboring schools were visitors for this conference.

These activities and more were all successfully performed by the club. However, it is doubtful as to the success of it, if it were not for the club sponsor, Mr. Bahney.

Sunshine Girls*

"Around the clock in Frankfort High School" we find the busy Sunshine girls distributing their help where it is most needed. Selling ice cream, popcorn, and chewing gum at basketball games; furnishing charity baskets along with the Hi-Y Club, and the biggest most worthwhile task was the Christmas party for the children. The girls also give student aid by buying things children need for school. The mother's tea is a semi-annual event that is always a success.

Miss Sally Foster, Miss Evelyn Bond, Miss Edna Miller, and Mrs. Katherine deserve recognition for the fine work they have done with the biggest organization of girls in F.H.S.

Orchestra

The orchestra is continuing in its job of making Frankfort High School tick! Although the orchestra's primary activity is playing at graduation and baccalaureate, their everyday sessions benefit every individual in cultivating the ear to obtain better rhythm, timing, and harmony.

Other activities of the year were playing for the grade school Christmas program, its annual Fall Concert, the Nickel Plate Safety Program, the Senior Class Play, and the Spring Festival, included with the high school band and chorus.

In gaining knowledge in music appreciation, the fifty members of the "little symphony" are learning better co-operation and independence under the able direction of Mr. B. A. Langdon.

Presenting our stately drum major — Joe Elliott! Joe has led the Frankfort High School marching band for the past two years and certainly deserves credit for making our band tick. He is active in basketball, National Honor, Hi-Y, and Math Club. He also plays bass clarinet in the concert band.

BAND OFFICERS

This year's eighty-three members will long remember the early morning marching practices in preparation for the football half-time routines.

Directly following came the basketball season, which was not complete without the swing and pep tunes from the F.H.S. band.

The mid-winter concert was wonderful from the first strain of the "Star-Spangled Banner" to the last chord of an exciting march. The classical number, solos, the lighter music, and our guest conductor, Mr. Harold Walters, were greatly appreciated by the largest audience ever to attend.

The band also participated in civic parades, the Spring Festival, girls' gym exhibition, and summer concerts in the park.

We take great pride in our drum majorettes this year. Naturally there is reason for this, as they copped All State medals from the music contest at Butler University.

"Drama-tics"

This year's senior class of Frankfort High School "Dramatics" presented "LIFE WITH FATHER." The red-headed family's life was enjoyed by all. Jim Boggs very ably portrayed the hot headed father and Patricia Ayers the docile mother. The play, with excellent props, management, and acting, was enjoyed by everyone that saw it. The entire setting was New York City, Spring, late 1880's.

"LIFE WITH FATHER"

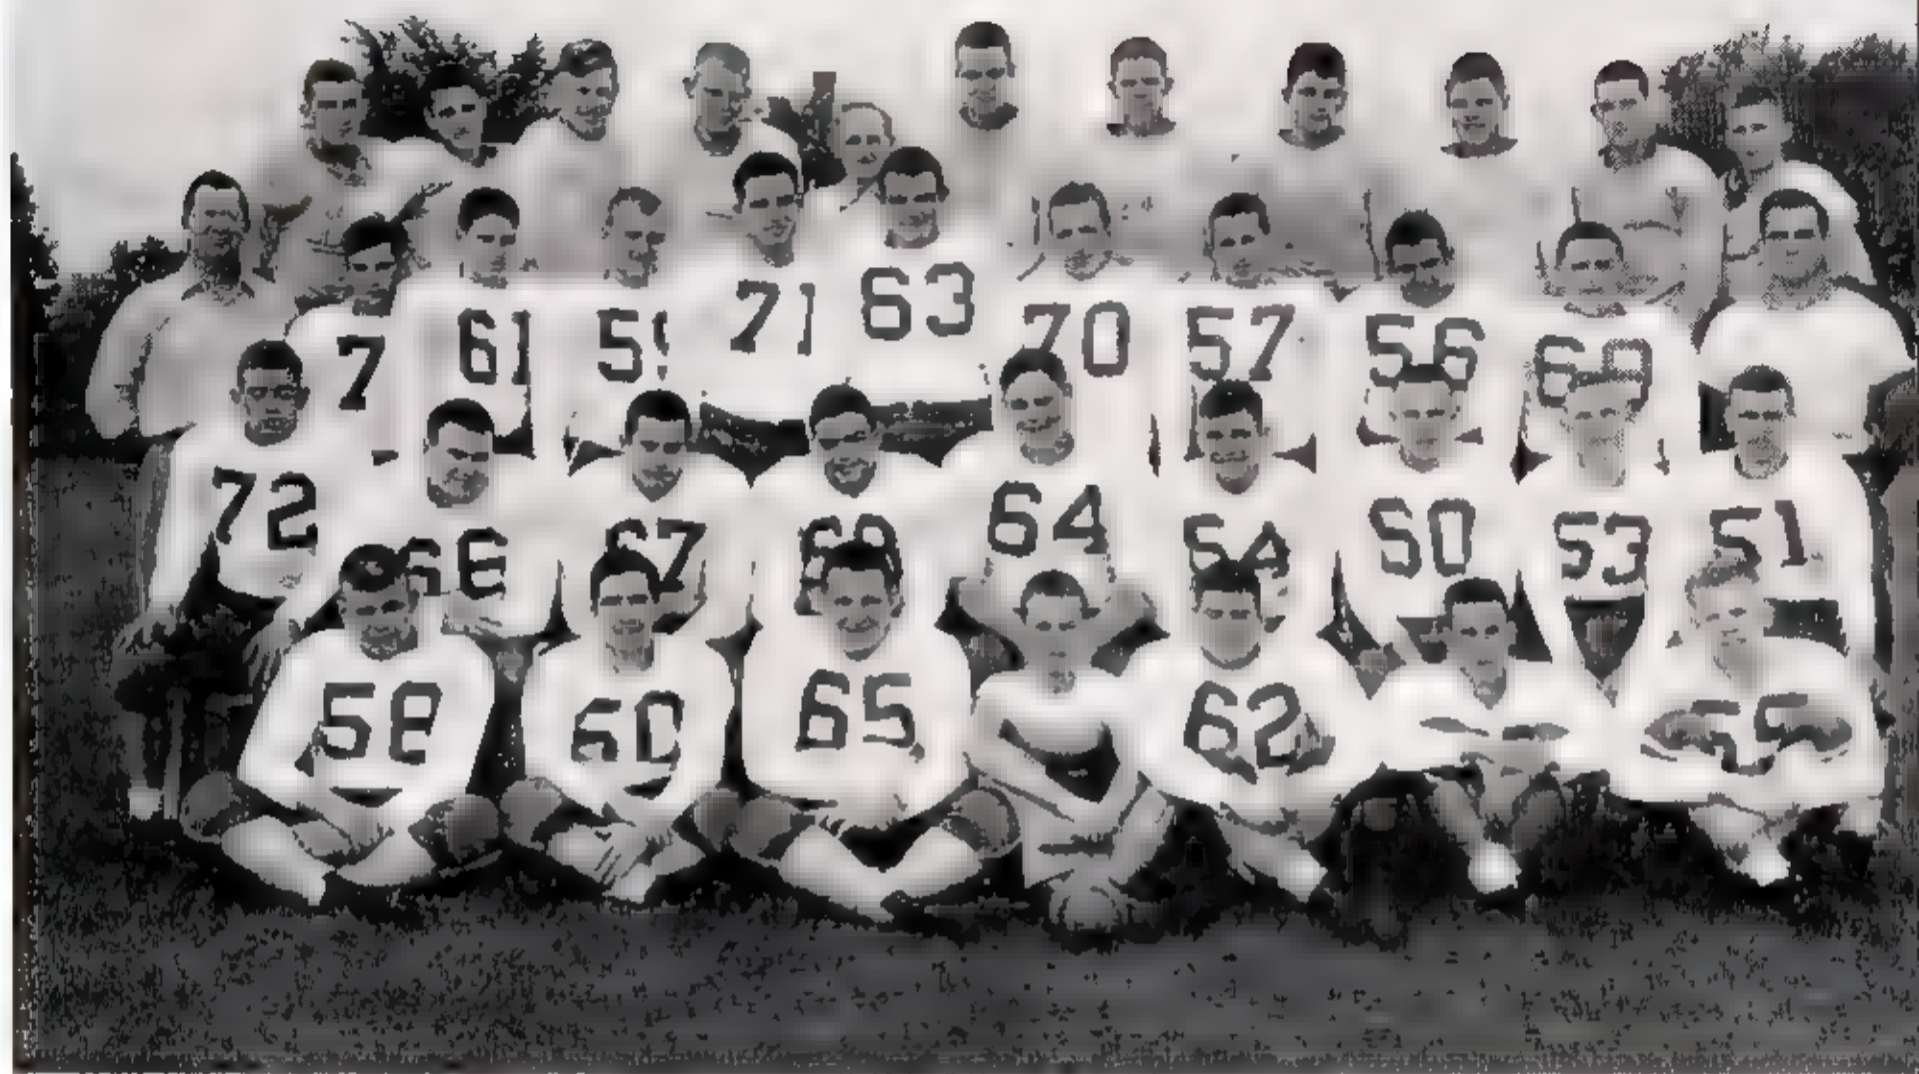

The Frankfort High SPORTS clock

From the illuminated Stott Field turf on a crisp autumn evening to the nocturnal splendor of old historic Howard Hall, athletics play as distinct a part in the molding of the true sense of sportsmanship as any one activity — with Frankfort its tops. Physical prowess, mental alertness, and sportsmanship; all can be secured and merged as one in achievement.

Football

Through football, character, minds, and bodies are built. Growth begins in the embryonic stage of freshman football, where the player learns how to "take it," and studies the fundamentals. In reserve football, all that has been assimilated thus far is put to use. The competition becomes stiffer now; growth continues, as the players specialize in their best positions. Varsity football, the last step, uses only those who have survived the screening out of the previous years. The speed of the game demands mental agility. The body contact and constant training improves one physically. Gentlemanly conduct promotes high morals; all these are essential to the sport.

We, as seniors, can see by looking back just how much a part of our lives this sport has been. The memory of the games, whatever the outcome, will remain with us long after we have departed from the playing field for the last time.

Frosh and Eighth Grade Football

Here are the future stars of F.H.S. who will try to fill the shoes of the departing seniors. Both the eighth grade and freshmen teams play a full schedule including teams from Lafayette, Kirklin, Lebanon, and Delphi. This was their first taste of football in competition, and they came through in fine style. The spirit and determination which they displayed should lead to greater success in seasons to come.

Eighth Grade

Varsity Basketball

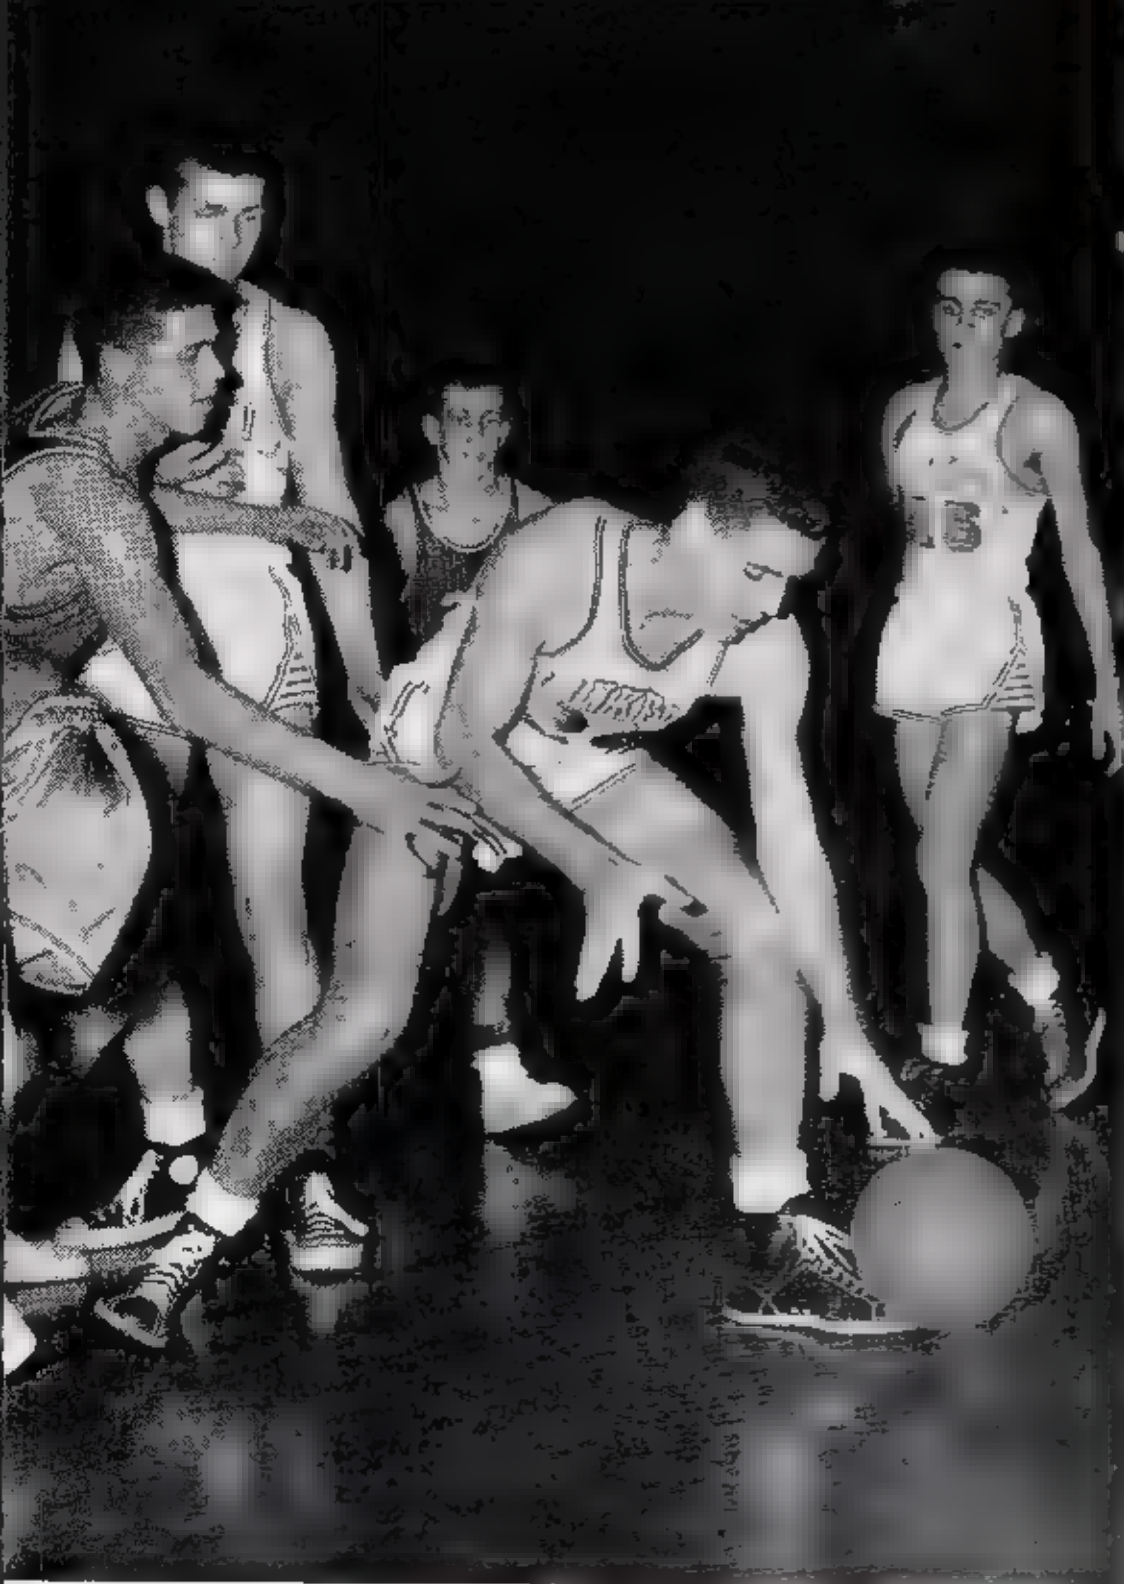

The quickening of the pulse . . . the palpitation of the heart . . . each moment, a frantic hair-raising spectacle . . . the spectator's coverage in one word—BASKETBALL! It is perhaps the one magical word that has become as phenomenal to the average Frankfortite as butter has to bread.

Dogville can truly and literally be acclaimed the basketball center of the state. Four I.H.S.A.A. tournament crowns, runner-up honors once, eight times competitors in the final four, 13 times a member of the final eight, 18 regional victories, and 25 sectional scalps give the Hot Dogs one of the most reputable pedigrees in modern basketball history.

Backed by a school built on the basis of good sportsmanship the incentive to repeat tradition carries on.

To the player on the court physical and mental alertness is a contributing factor in pushing offense or tightening defense. He must learn to be supple, quick, and easy of movement.

Strict training is the key conclusion to all good ball clubs. In accordance with the Cummins round ball theory — early to bed, early to rise, makes a basketball player healthy, wealthy, and wise.

Leaving 15 victims in their wake, the Hot Dogs pulled reins in the regional tournament under the influence of old-time rival Lafayette Jeff.

Track

To your pits! On your mark! Bang! Yes, it is another track season. This year saw the returning of five lettermen: B. Wainscott, R. Locke, J. Armantrout, N. Conner, and J. Storm, all of which are juniors. Some of the boys were out at the first sign of a robin, while others came when basketball season was over. There are no seniors on this year's team. The boys opened their season at Indiana University this year, with an indoor meet. They had three dual meets plus three relays, the N.C.C. meet, and the Central Indiana meet.

Tennis

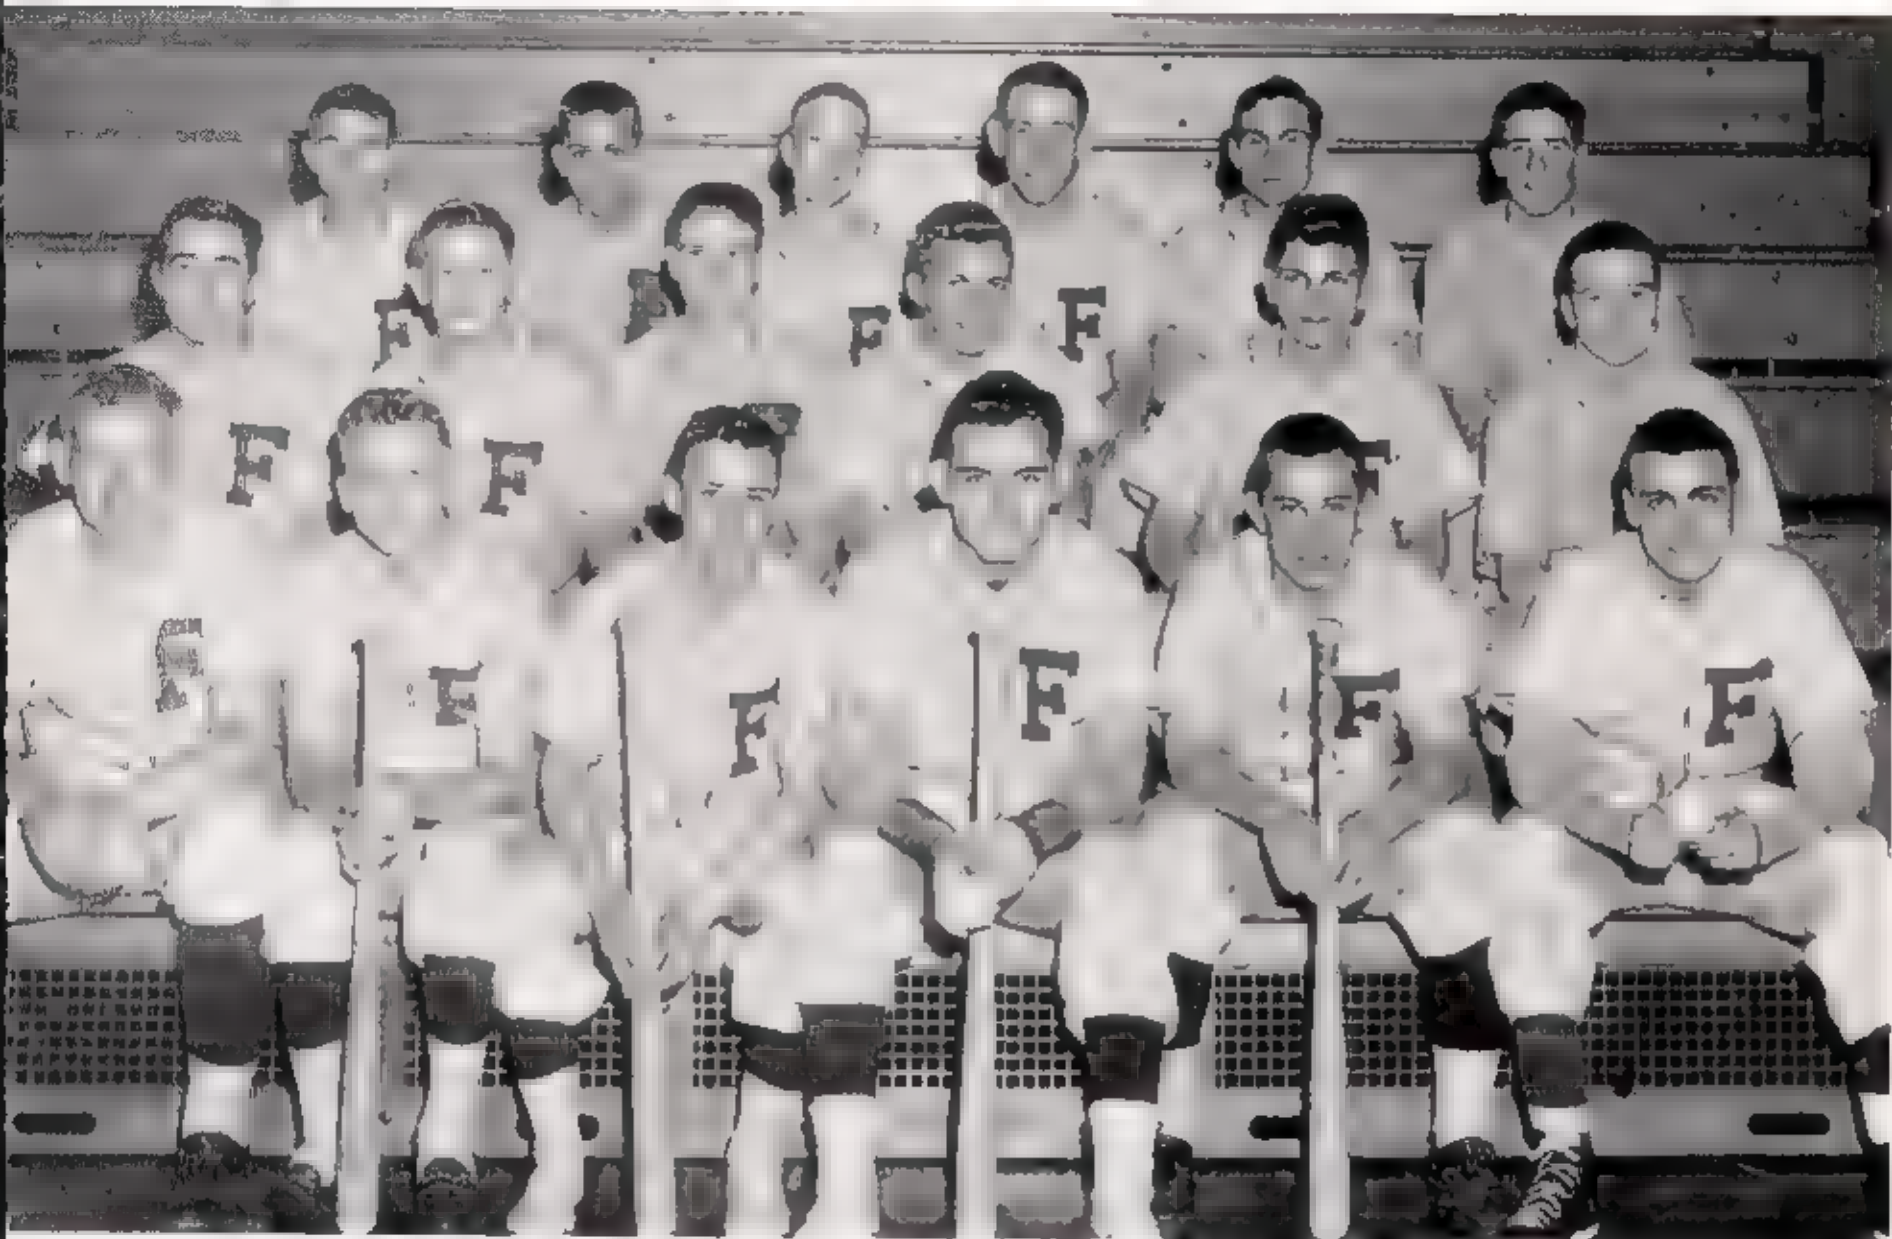

Ready one! Yes, it is another tennis season and the boys were on the courts at the sign of the first warm day this spring. This is the sixth year of organization. They have a full schedule this year, starting on May 1 and ending on May 29. They have eight conference matches and two matches with Crawfordsville.

Golf

In their eighth year of organization, the golf team participated in four dual meets with New Castle, Kokomo, and two with Crawfordsville. The Conference meet was held at Tech of Indianapolis this year on May 3. John Kern and Tom Rohrabauhg are the only seniors on this year's squad. They practice sixth period every day that it is nice outside.

As spring rolls around one of America's most popular sports, baseball, begins to take its place in the field of

Baseball

Head Coach Wilbur Cummins and Assistant Coach Charles Heninger were greeted by six returning lettermen this year. The first drills were spent inside Howard Hall. As soon as the weather permitted, the team practiced at T.P.A. Park. The team also plays all of the home games at T.P.A. Park. The schedule this year calls for five home games and four games away. Lebanon and Crawfordsville may be possible games if any dates can be arranged. The Blue Sox are expected to keep baseball on the rising trend in Frankfort High, hoping that it may become a top sport.

Girls' Physical Education

Out of the many different classes that make F.H.S. tick there is one that we must not overlook — that is the physical education classes. Here we find girls participating in such games as basketball, volleyball, soccer, ring tennis and baseball.

This is a class where you can really relax, have fun, and make many new acquaintances. This class has done much towards developing the minds and bodies of the girls enrolled.

Miss Louise LeHew and Miss Sally Foster are the very capable supervisors of the physical education classes. We have to hand it to them, they do a grand job at their work. This is proved by the gym exhibit which is always enjoyed by everyone as much as the girls enjoy putting it on.
